

Congratulations on your new firearm!

This may be your first firearm or an excellent addition to your collection.

Either way, PREVENTION is at the core of your responsibility.

Yes, firearms are time-honored tools for recreation, hunting, and self-defense...

But we must prevent others who should not have access from getting their hands on our firearms.

Yes, there are many great ways of securing your firearm from theft such as quick-access gun safes...

But, changes at home might cause you to re-think storage methods. A suicidal family member, visiting grandchildren, rocky divorce, or long deployment might mean it's time to change the locks or temporarily store your guns away from home.

Yes, you may have firearms skills and understand applicable laws...

But, skills get rusty and laws change. To stay sharp, keep training and stay up to date on gun laws. Google "firearm training near me" or ask your local gunshop for recommendations.

90% of shooting deaths in NH are suicides. If you or someone at home is struggling and don't know where to turn for help, call or text 988.
